Searching for Ancestors in Canadian Records

Tuesday, June 18, 2019

6:30 pm – 8:30 pm

Because so many immigrants into the United States first passed through Canada and may have left family members there in the process, we need to be aware of records available for those family members and how to find them. Research skills involved in this process are valuable for pursuing ancestors all over the planet and as an expert also in Project Management, Christine can help us find what we need and manage what we find.

Christine Bell Green, a graduate of the Genealogical Studies program at the University of Toronto, also completed an Advanced Genealogy and Advanced DNA Analysis Program at the Genealogy Research Institute of Pittsburgh. Dr. Green also earned a Ph.D. in Biochemistry using research skills and methodology that undoubtedly has helped her in her current career. Currently, she teaches genealogy in Palo Alto and at the Mountain View/Los Altos Adult Schools.
