Story of the Saratoga IOOF Cemetery

Acknowledgements:

A chance comment in a conversation with a friend, Stanley D. Stevens, Map Librarian Emeritus of Special Collections, University of California, Santa Cruz, alerted me to an interesting story. Alfred Jennings, a former sheriff of Santa Cruz County spent his last years at the Odd Fellows Home in Saratoga. As part of his research my friend had tried to locate his grave.

Later, after I had decided to move to the Saratoga Retirement Community (SRC - The Manor at Saratoga), I brought up the story again and asked him if he had ever found the cemetery. He said that someone had pointed out the location to him at the time but he did not recall the details. He did send me Sheriff Jennings' story, which is included below.

Soon after the new Residents moved into SRC in December 2004, I mentioned the existence of Cemetery at a meeting. There was an immediate interest in wanting to learn more about it, how it came to be and who the pioneers were. Shortly thereafter an organized residents' walking group, headed by Diane Tallmadge, rediscovered the hidden Saratoga City trail leading to the Cemetery and sparked our interest in learning more of its history.

As amateur genealogists and family historians Jack Harriman and I recognized this was a great opportunity right next door for a meaningful family history project. Here was a large cemetery that had not already been studied in detail. It was of historical importance to the local area, and it was of personal interest to residents since it was an important part of the history of our new home at the Saratoga Retirement Community

We learned about the names used locally: Barnes Hall, The Oakwood Room, Three-links, Seven Stars, Rebekah Room, etc. and their roots in Odd Fellow history.

After some preliminary experiments, Jack and I prepared a proposal to do a detailed census of the Cemetery and presented it to the Board of the Odd Fellows Home of California, the owners of SRC and the Cemetery. At their next meeting at Saratoga the Board received the proposal with enthusiasm. We have since benefited greatly from their support and encouragement.

We want especially to acknowledge:

- Don Smith, OFHC, Resident Services
- Gerald Poarch, OFHC Committee Chairman
- Mike Logan, Executive Admin., SRC
- Scott Richardson, Maintenance Supervisor

Special thanks to:

- The unnamed researcher who prepared the 1983 handwritten roster of the Cemetery.
- Those who prepared the microfilms for the LDS Family History Center in Salt Lake City.
- The genealogy research staff of the Santa Clara City Library.
- The Superintendents of Saratoga Odd Fellows Home and all those who prepared the original records
- The craftsmen who made the 800 plus stone markers.

Now we present this report to the Board of OFHC in honor of the pioneers whose names are recorded here. It is our hope and expectation that it will help future genealogists and members of the IOOF will find it useful in research into their family history.

Story of the Saratoga IOOF Cemetery

Introduction

“No Ordinary Lives”

As the historian Ken Burns said concerning his great series about the Civil War, “There were no ordinary lives”. An old cemetery is like a book. There are so many interesting stories represented by each stone page. They teach us what life is and what it is not.

When Jack Harriman and I were measuring, photographing and registering the stones it was probably the first time many of the names had been spoken out loud for over 20 or 40 years. It is sad to think that they had had loved ones and lives full of joy and sorrow.

The Survivors

The IOOF Cemetery at Saratoga is very different from a typical old cemetery. The stones here mark the final resting place or a memorial to the lives of over 800 ordinary people, who accomplished extraordinary things for the State of California.

Normally one would find a sizable percentage of infants, children and young adults. Here all the stones record ages of death over 60 years, many in the 90s, and even 3 over 100. These were the oldest survivors.

Every one of the names listed here represents an extraordinary period in the life of our country. Nearly a third of them were born before the 1849 Gold Rush. Half were born by 1857, well before the Civil War. Some came to California when it was the frontier of America. Some came before railroads were built. Some were born in California in the 1850s. Many came from Europe: England, Germany and Scandinavia to find their fortune in the Golden state.

Life in the Old Days

During their lives horses and teams were the principal transportation. The roads were rugged and often impassible from storms or mud. In 1912, before World War I, they were already past middle-age when the Saratoga Odd Fellows home was founded. This was before automobiles were common. They survived the Great Depression of the 1930s.. They were very old in 1940 before World War II started.

It is true that many were poor when they sought a refuge in the Odd Fellows Homes. As one recent speaker said, “The Homes provided relief for people who didn’t strike it rich in California.” Their lives were “The true, honest, complicated past.”

Lodges were very popular in the late 1800s and early 1900s. The IOOF was singularly welcoming to people of all faiths. They provided for a deep need of social welfare. There was no Social Security system in those days before 1940.

This census is prepared as a research tool for genealogists or family history writers seeking lost branches of their families. So much time has already elapsed that most of those buried here have no close relatives still living. The ones who are memorialized here were not buried with their families.

The New Saratoga Manor

The new residents of the Saratoga Retirement Community are not poor in the traditional sense of the term. However the Odd Fellows recognize that they are senior citizens and they do have the basic needs of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. They need a nice, safe place to live and good food. They need social interaction and activities and support in times of illness and sorrow. For this we are very grateful.

As new residents of The Saratoga Retirement Community, which we call “The Manor at Saratoga”, we are very grateful for the beautiful facility and warm companionship.

Original Proposal to OFHC March 24, 2006

Background

Family history and genealogy have become very popular hobbies. The advent of personal computers and the world-wide network have made serious research within the reach of everyone. The main Genealogical library in Santa Clara has very few references to the Odd Fellows Cemetery. This was surprising because most cemeteries in the County have been researched in detail. This is a project that interested Residents are willing to undertake because is part of the history of our home and those who built it.

Last October, with help from the walking group to clean the stones, we did a test case. About 50 digital pictures were taken, each showing 2-4 stones. The names and dates proved easy to copy onto a computer spreadsheet where they could be printed and sorted in any order.

More recently we have obtained access to a microfilm record from Salt Lake City containing records for the Cemetery up to about 1985. The data on this microfilm consists of about 710 entries. We have already transcribed them to a computer data base. Comparisons with the results of the photographic test case have been very encouraging.

All it takes now is permission from the Odd Fellows Board, a few willing Resident volunteers and some hard work. Preparing a report containing a total cemetery census is within our reach.

Outline of Project

1. Motivation

- Personal interest in Family History as a hobby
- Residents' interest in the history of our home and those who built it

2. Value

- Value of results to Odd Fellows
- Value to the nationwide Genealogical community

3. Method

- New technology makes the Census much easier
- Digital camera photography is quick and inexpensive
- Image software simplifies reading the inscriptions
- Computer data base is easy to construct and cross-check
- High quality Computer-generated final reports

4. Requirements

- Permission from IOOF
- Access to existing IOOF name lists
- An agreement on publication, ownership, copyright, etc.

5. Gathering Data

- Work party of Residents clean the monuments, and photograph them.
- Read the photographs on computer screen and record the results in a data base.

6. Analysis of Data

- Print out draft reports. Lay out a final computer generated report

7. Results

- Make permanent computer-readable record in booklet form
- Print and Distribute results to the Genealogy Community

Action:

The Board accepted the proposal enthusiastically and offered to help with publication expenses. We agreed that OFHC should hold the copyright.

History

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows is a fraternal & benevolent society. The origin of its name is believed to come from a group of laborers, in odd trades or doing odd jobs, who formed a fraternity for fellowship and self-insurance to provide for help in times of illness or injury when they were unable to work.

The earliest account of an Odd Fellows Lodge is of a meeting of Lodge 9 in 1748 at a Globe Tavern in England. (Since it was #9, there were probably as many or more lodges in London at that time.) By 1803, the numerous Odd Fellows organizations had become unified under a central authority, later known as the Grand Lodge of England.

The Odd Fellowship, as it exists in America today, began in 1819 when five members of the English Order began meeting in the Seven Stars Inn in Baltimore, Maryland. But the authorizing charter to found Washington Lodge No. 1 did not arrive from England until the following year..

Seven Stars Inn

In January of 1849 a charter was issued in Philadelphia to establish the first Odd Fellowship in California as Lodge No. 1. But due to the turmoil in Yerba Buena (San Francisco) from the discovery of gold at Coloma the year before, it was not until Sept. 9, 1849, (exactly one year before California was admitted to the Union as the 31st state) that a sufficient number of members could be gathered to secure the charter.

And on that very date, the Three Link Fraternity was officially established in California, with its chain symbol of three links encircling the letters 'F', 'L' and 'T' standing for Fellowship, Love, and Truth.

When the first by-laws were adopted in 1850, the initiation fee was set at $50. Quarterly dues of $10 were expected in advance and benefits were to be paid only when a member was in need. When they added the women's lodge known as the Rebekahs in 1851, the Odd Fellows became the first national fraternity to include both men and women.

At the start of the Civil War in 1861, the IOOF had 200,000 members in 42 states. When the war ended in 1865, a great convocation of 95 regional representatives was held to reunite the Southern and Northern jurisdictions of the Order. One of three representatives from Georgia was its Grand Master, William H. Barnes, who later played a leadership role in developing the Odd Fellows Home in Saratoga.

Barnes was born in Boston in 1834, but by the time he was 6, his parents had moved to Georgia. On his 21st birthday he was initiated into the Odd Fellows in Millidgeville, Georgia. And as an active participant, he was appointed District Deputy Grand Master just four years later. In 1877 he came to California on a lecturing tour and, while in San Francisco, he became associated with New Age, a publication he later purchased. During his many years of membership in California Odd Fellow Lodges, he held important positions until, in 1893, he was elected Grand Scribe, an office he held for 28 years until his death.

The Odd Fellows played an important part in California's early history: every small town had an IOOF hall and many older buildings can still be found in rural areas. Many governors of California and other prominent citizens were members.

Story of the Saratoga IOOF Cemetery

In March 1908, the Grand Lodge of California purchased the original Oakwood Farm of 85 acres in Saratoga from John and Bessie Stetson for $16,000 in anticipation of building a long awaited Odd Fellows Home in California. Fruitvale Avenue at that time was only a rutted dirt wagon-track, traveled by an occasional horseless carriage

In 1910, after a competition the architectural firm of Boehrer and Hart of San Francisco was awarded the design contract. The total cost of the Manor and other buildings came to $236,342. Dedication Ceremonies were held on May 15, 1912, and more than 2,000 people heard William Barnes speak as the featured orator. When he died in 1921 at the age of 87, he was buried in the Saratoga Odd Fellows Home Cemetery on a hill behind the Saratoga Retirement Community. His is the largest and only stone monument which stands erect in the cemetery.

When the American Order was founded in Baltimore, that city was in the grip of both a severe yellow fever epidemic and mass unemployment. While the English Odd Fellows was (and still is) primarily a mutual insurance fraternity and had the major objective of financial relief, it seemed appropriate for the Americans to broaden that goal, including the "duty to visit the sick, relieve the distressed, bury the dead and educate the orphans," duties relevant to the earlier plight in Baltimore. By 1834, the Odd Fellows in North America had become Independent, having severed their ties with the Order in Britain.

Burying the dead was taken very seriously by Odd Fellows, and most new lodges purchased land and established cemeteries in towns or cities. Cemeteries were often open to the public and plots were sold for a few dollars each. Many California lodges still own and operate cemeteries and in some communities the major cemetery is the one owned by the Odd Fellows.

Educating the orphan was also an important obligation and orphans of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs could expect to receive a high school education through help from the lodge. In the late 1800's, authority was granted to establish the Odd Fellow – Rebekah Children's Home in Gilroy. Today the Rebekahs still operate this facility for children, of members and others alike, who have special problems and needs.

The Odd Fellows have played other important roles in California's early history: every small town had an IOOF Hall which often served as a general meeting place for other organizations, and even as the early town hall. Also membership in the order has been held by four U.S. Presidents, by several California Governors, including Earl Warren and by many other prominent citizens.

The Odd Fellowship is based on the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. Members must believe in a Supreme Being, the Creator and Preserver of the Universe, be of good moral character, and be loyal to their country. The organization has non-denominational prayers at its meetings, but the expression of private religious beliefs or personal political opinions is strictly forbidden, as expressed in this verse from a song in one ritual:

A Temple where no narrow creed protects a chosen few;

It holds alike deserved heed to Christian, Turk and Jew.

From a peak membership of more than 2.0 million members in the 1920's, the Odd Fellows have declined to about 1.25 million members at the present time. Locally, the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs have lodges in Campbell, Cupertino, San José, Santa Clara, Sunnyvale, Mountain View, Palo Alto and Gilroy, in addition to the two Odd Fellows Lodges and three Rebekah Lodges in Saratoga. There are 28 members now living with us in the California Villa who had previously lived in the Manor when it was the original Odd Fellows Home in Saratoga.

Story of the Saratoga IOOF Cemetery

The Building of the Saratoga Manor

When the Odd Fellows Home Administrator, Clyde Vaughn, first asked Geri Rush if she would like to prepare a little history of the Home at for the 80th anniversary shindig, she eagerly agreed. Little did she know what she was getting into!

Down in the vault they found some old faded blue prints showing details of the main building - how thick the walls were and what they were made of. For those of you who like details, the answers are: 12 inches and concrete. "I found myself wondering where the building materials came from and how they got here. I imagined a 40 mule team hauling tons of rock and sand and lime and gravel, perhaps even with a Ronald Reagan-type cracking a whip over the team as they struggle up the hills - or was it down the hills? The marble used so liberally throughout this magnificent building, could it have come from ship around the horn? Or was the Panama Canal built then? I wanted to know! I found some old journals of proceedings dating, way back. I started reading."

The first Odd Fellows Home in California opened in 1895 in Thermalito, in Butte Co. three miles from Oroville. It was established in the old Bella Vista Hotel on the banks of the Feather River. Much of the food used in the kitchen was raised there and livestock was kept on the "farm". Inmates (as that is what the residents were called then) milked the cows and helped in other chores, feeding the hogs and sheep and gathering the eggs.

The Grand Master of the Lodge tried to visit the Home in Thermalito in February 1909 after heavy rains had washed out the roads and, as he reported, "... in many places, the water ran over the top of the buggy bed"

A Committee of stalwart Odd Fellows was appointed in 1906 to search for an ideal site for a new modern Odd Fellows Home. Grand Lodge was held in Santa Cruz that year and was six weeks late due to "The Grand Calamity"- the April earthquake and fires in San Francisco. Over the next almost two years the Committee investigated over 80 locations throughout eleven counties. Strict guidelines had been established by Grand Lodge: the property, in order to be considered, had to contain no less than 40 acres, nor more than 120 acres. The land must be fertile and tillable. The water must be pure, the conditions healthy. It must be near good markets and close to a population center. Last but not least, it must be within 3 hours travel time of San Francisco, but they didn't specify by what means of transportation.

When the final four locations were selected, One was in Napa County, but it was considered too expensive and the owner refused to give an inch. The other three were in Santa Clara County, considered the garden spot of California. One turned out to be too small. One had been sold by the time the committee got there. That left the Sellinger place near the unincorporated village of Saratoga. The committee felt this property was suitable and went so far as to have samples of water sent off for analysis. But before the report was returned, another property was offered for consideration.

Near the Sellinger place was another place, 82 acres of rolling hills, over 60 acres of which were orchards: apricots, pears, prunes, plums, apples and citrus. There was a beautiful avenue leading to the place, either side of which contained large Eucalyptus and Cypress trees. The property was known as Oakwood Farm. The Committee bought it for $16,000. The deal was finalized in March 1908, just as Henry Ford was rolling his first Model T out of the factory.

A competition was held for designing plans for a new Home to be placed on the Oakwood Farm site. Less than a year later, the $400 first prize was awarded to a firm of San Francisco architects. The plans called for an administration building of two stories and basement, containing offices, reception room, kitchen, storerooms in the basement, and rooms on the second floor for 75 residents. There was to be a hospital building for 40 patients, separate buildings for laundry, stables for six horses, wagon and buggy sheds, and a cow barn for 20 cows. Promissory notes totaling $150,000 were sold at 6% interest payable in 10 years; these were quickly snapped up by Odd Fellows Lodges and members of the Order.

October 7, 1911, the cornerstone was laid for the Administration Building during a massive ceremony with over 1,500 members from all over the State in attendance. Previous to the ceremonies, a genuine California-Spanish barbecue was prepared by the lodges of Santa Clara County. Beef, lamb, beans, coffee and lemonade were served in abundance. Elsewhere in the country, Irving Berlin was writing his soon-to-be famous "Alexander's Ragtime Band".

The dedication of the building took place one year later in May 1912. John McLaren of Golden Gate Park fame laid out our grounds at no expense to the Order, as he was a brother Odd Fellow. The bell that signaled mealtime daily came from the ship Pensacola, compliments of the Navy Department.

It would have been wonderful to have talked to the construction men, the excavators, graders, mule skinnners, skilled and unskilled laborers, who worked on this massive project to get their impressions of what must have been an exciting but difficult, dangerous job. Each must have felt some pride in later years as he was able to point to what became a Saratoga landmark and say, "I helped built that".

By 1992 the orchards were gone. There were 32 brothers and 184 sisters who called this "home". Their average age was 83. The old cottages had been torn down, a new modern villa built and some property sold off for other purposes. But no matter what happens in the future, nothing will ever be quite as exciting as finding "Oakwood Farm".

The New Saratoga Retirement Community

The following is extracted from an article by the OFHC Board of Directors published in "California Odd Fellow & Rebekah" magazine Jul-Sep 2005:

At the 1990 Grand Lodge session, the fact that the Home was having tremendous financial difficulties was conveyed to the membership. Back then, this beautiful property dating back to the beginning of the 20th century, had lost its luster and was having a hard time attracting members for residency...

A decision was then made to form an exploratory committee that would work in finding out if it was financially feasible to keep the property. A project of this magnitude in an area as expensive as the Bay Area, would not only demand a major undertaking but would require the property be available to the public and not only to members. Therefore, the trend that had started years before by admitting non-members would have to become a permanent and financially necessary requirement if the Home was to survive.

In time will become the source from which funds may be created to provide care to those members in need of financial assistance. The Saratoga home is now among the elite of this type of facility in the State of California.

Saratoga is not the "Odd Fellows Home" anymore. It is not the Home of the beginning of the last century where members moved in to grow their food and milk their cows. It is not the Home of the 1950's that housed hundreds of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs. Furthermore, it is not the Home of the 1990s that could not attract enough members into its diminutive and deteriorated rooms with communal bathrooms in the hallways.

In order to make the project work, to become a Continuing Care Retirement Community (CCRC). These are highly regulated retirement facilities that in exchange for a high entrance fee, as well as monthly rental fees, provide the residents a number of services, and the guarantee to move into Assisted Living and the Skilled Nursing Facility as needed.

Stories

William H. Barnes was born in Boston, Mass, September 22, 1834. At the age of six, his parents moved to Georgia. On September 22, 1855, he was initiated into Sylvan Odd Fellows Lodge #4 in Milledgeville, Georgia, and in 1859, was appointed District Deputy Grand Master. When the Grand Lodge of Georgia assembled at Macon in 1862, Brother Barnes was elected and installed Grand Master of Georgia. In 1863, he was elected Grand Patriarch of the Grand Encampment, serving in that office until the close of the Civil War, the following year.

Brother Barnes then moved to Boston for a short period, and then traveled on to New York City, where he became connected with the American Odd Fellow publication. While there he established the Heart and Hand magazine, being their editor until 1877, when he came to California on a lecturing tour. While in San Francisco he became associated with the New Age, a publication he later purchased.

During his years of membership in California Odd Fellow Lodges, he served as Grand Trustee of the Grand Encampment of California from 1883 to 1893. He was appointed Grand Scribe of the Grand Encampment, at the death of Grand Scribe W. B. Lyon in 1893. He was re-elected each year to that office until his death in 1921. He was author of "Historical Record of the Grand Encampment of California, IOOF, published in 1907.

Dedication Ceremonies for the Original Odd Fellows Home of California at Saratoga were held on Wednesday, May 15, 1912. Oration of the day was given by William H. Barnes, Grand Scribe, of the Grand Encampment of California.

Brother Barnes was the last surviving member to attend the Grand Lodge of the United States sessions reuniting the Northern Odd Fellow Jurisdictions and the Southern Odd Fellow Jurisdictions, after the Civil War in 1865. The Independent Order of Odd Fellows became the first national organization to reunite after the Civil War. In 1979, the name of the Grand Lodge of the United States was changed to The Sovereign Grand Lodge, because Odd Fellow lodges were established in Europe in addition to the United States and Canada. William H. Barnes was the featured speaker at the Sovereign Grand Lodge sessions in 1915 during the 50th anniversary of reuniting the Order.

The 100th anniversary of this important event was held on September 19, 1965, with a pageant based upon the address given by Brother Barnes in 1915.

Due to his leadership in developing the Odd Fellows Home in Saratoga and his dedication to Odd Fellowship, the Home Board designated the auditorium at the Saratoga Home as Barnes Hall. At 87 years of age, Brother Barnes passed away on November 12, 1921. He is buried in the Odd Fellows Home Cemetery on the hill behind the home, and largest monument in the cemetery is the one for William H. Barnes.

Story of the Saratoga IOOF Cemetery

Alfred John Jennings

An Englishman and member of the Pioneer Association of Santa Cruz County, an old and prominent citizen, a genial and jolly good fellow, full of joke, wit, and repartee, A. J. Jennings is a conspicuous and prominent character of the county, having been long identified with its interests, serving as sheriff since 1888, to which office he was first elected by a majority of five hundred and forty-seven out of a total of three thousand.

He was born in London March 13, 1831. He left the country of his nativity when an infant and became a citizen of the United States by virtue of the naturalization of his father. His father was a machinist and located in New York, at which place Alfred received his education. The gold fever of 1849 brought him to California from Baltimore, via Cape Horn, on the bark Maria. An eventful feature of the trip was shortage of water, the passengers being limited to a pint a day for three weeks. The bark put in at the Sandwich Islands for water, and ultimately arrived in port at San Francisco at 4:00 PM., December 31, 1849. So Mr. Jennings is a pioneer of 1849 by the grace of eight hours.

At the date of the young man's arrival his wealth consisted of just $60. His first venture was to take a vessel and commence boating on the Sacramento River. In eighteen months he made about $5,000, went to the mines, and shared the fate of most miners-got broke. In 1859 he came to Watsonville, and in 1863 and 1864 he sacked his hay in order to be able to haul it, as he was then engaged in his only farming experience. He engaged in the mercantile business in Watsonville, run [sic] a brick yard, the first in town, and served the same city in the capacity of constable and under sheriff. In 1882 he went to Aptos and kept a general merchandise store, was postmaster, etc. He was residing at this place when his county called him to the shades of the courthouse, where he has since made it hot for evil doers, and presides as becomes a popular host over the Hotel de County.

He joined the Pioneers ten years ago, and has passed through all the chairs of I. O. O. F.,

Encampment, and Workmen. He was married, in 1855, to Sarah J. Ladd, of Sacramento, and has five sons: Henry Everett, John Sanford, Charles Nelson, Alfred Thomas, and Ernest.

A little episode of Mr. Jennings' life is illustrative of his character. When in Coulterville, in Mariposa County, in 1850, he was requested to teach a school. After reluctantly accepting the position it was necessary he should pass an examination.

The committee selected consisted of Ed Bell, the county clerk, and Tom Long, a tall, dignified lawyer. Jennings said that he was timid and modest when he entered their presence, a virtue which, by the way, still clings to him, and has deprived him of many of the good things of this life. Bell said to him, "How much is two and one-half times two and one-half?" [Quick: How much is it?]

A correct solution was given, whereupon Mr. Bell said, "That is all, I pass you." Long arose and, in a solemn and impressive manner, said: "Young man, do you realize the serious and awful responsibility you are assuming? Are you aware of the fact that you are possibly developing and instructing the minds of the future congressmen of the United States, yea, possibly the President of the United States?"

"Now I am about to propound to you a question upon the correct solution of which, and the proper answer to which, depends whether or not I give you my sanction to take the important step which you contemplate;" and, after a rhetorical pause, during which time Jennings' heart beats rose to one hundred and eighty a minute, he continued, with marked solemnity, "Young man, have you money enough in your breeches pocket to pay for whisky for three?" The answer being affirmative, they all took a drink, the examination was concluded, and Jennings took charge of the school.

Gathering the Data

As was mentioned in the March 2006 proposal to the Odd Fellows, we first did a test case in October 2005, with help from the Residents' walking group to clean a few stones. About 50 digital pictures were taken, each showing 2-4 grave stones. The names and dates were copied onto a computer spreadsheet. In this form they can be printed and sorted in any order. From this test we made estimates as to the amount of work needed to do a complete census. We estimated there to be about 400 graves. As is usual in family history projects, the estimates turned out to be very low.

Microfilm Records

In January 2006 we obtained access through the LDS Family History center in Santa Clara to a microfilm record from Salt Lake City containing records for the Cemetery up to about 1985. This microfilm, created about 1980, contained 710 entries in the form of images of catalog cards. By April we had transcribed these and entered them into a computer data base.

Problems

The first comparisons with the results of the digital photographs of stones were encouraging. But quickly they became detective work. Some names on stones didn't match the records. Some locations were wrong or partially missing.

Detailed comparison showed many of them contained errors, mostly mistakes introduced in copying handwriting. Some dates were wrong: 6 instead of 8, 9 instead of 0, 3 instead of 5, etc. In one case a middle name and last name were interchanged.

There were also physical problems. Weeds and leaves covered many stones. In some places gopher piles had covered stones. Some of the metal row marker posts had been pulled up and were lying on the ground near the gate.

The IOOF Register

On May 26, 2005, Scott Richardson, Facility Services Director, who has worked at SRC since 1990, was able to locate the official Grave Register in an old cabinet as it was about to be sent to an off-site warehouse. This Register saved the project and proved to be a much more accurate census than the microfilm.

Analysis showed that the Salt Lake file cards must have been transcribed from a poor copy of the Register. In several places numbers on the edge of Register pages were missing from the file cards. The worst problem was that 52 names starting with S on page 21 of the Register were omitted altogether. The Z page was also missing.

The Register contains first and last names, birth year, death year and grave location for each entry. The records are entered on a page by first letter of the last name, then sequentially by date as they were entered. The handwritten records are carefully done all in the same handwriting. The records stop in 1983, with a few more in a different hand written in 1984.

Photographing

After receiving the permission of the Odd Fellows Board we began a series of trips to photograph all the stones. The procedure was to lay a 100 foot long tape measure along a row and to photograph each stone in sequence. The tape helped quantify locations and point out missing spaces.

During the analysis we prepared lists of inconsistencies and problem records. Several repeat trips were needed to dig for and try to find the missing stones or locations for graves listed in the records but missing in the photographs.

In the end there were only a few records that finally had to be listed as "no stone". (See Table 1) The stones may still be buried there or they have been moved or never installed.

The sets of digital images are saved on a CD disk. In this, way pictures of the grave stones can be printed later if requested by family members or friends.

Story of the Saratoga IOOF Cemetery

Analysis of the Results:

One of the IOOF's stated missions is to bury the dead. At the Saratoga Cemetery they were very systematic and serious about this duty. No grave was unmarked because the family could not afford a stone. With two exceptions all the grave stones at the Saratoga cemetery are ground level. They are all the same frugal uniform size. The style of engraving varied little with the years. Apparently groups of stones were ordered at the same time. Many of the graves are in chronological order.

Our statistical effort was first concentrated on finding and correcting errors. About 5 to 10 percent of the transcribed records had something that needed correcting. Mistakes in reading the handwriting seemed to be the major source of error. When there were real inconsistencies we tended to believe the stone inscriptions over the records. For later dates not in the records we depended on the stone inscriptions only.

Most errors were found by sorting the data on various fields. Out-of-range dates and ages show up very quickly this way. Cross comparing locations vs. dates pointed out other possible errors. The tape measure readings were very helpful in pointing out the location of missing stones. Many of these we found later found by additional digging, scraping and sweeping.

Map 1 (page 12) shows the location of the IOOF Cemetery. The Odd Fellows originally owned most of the area represented by the square south of San Marcos and east of Fruitvale. All but 39 acres, containing SRC and Friendship Plaza, were later sold for housing development. The Cemetery is separated from the main location and is accessible only by a City trail off Crisp Avenue.

Map 2 is based on a hand-drawn map included in the 1983 Register booklet. The graves are laid out in a rectangular array. There is a path labeled "Road: with erect iron pipes on either side marked with the row number (see Photo 5, page 21, facing NE).

On the map, the rows were numbered from 1 to 25 on the right and from 26 to 38 on the left. Plots were numbered along each row from the road, 1-20 on the left and 1-32 up to 50 on the right.

The areas marked on the map show the time sequence in which the Cemetery filled up. In an ordinary cemetery individual owners or families usually purchase plots in advance often leaving blank plots. In this case the IOOF owned the plots and used them mainly sequentially.

The earliest graves started near the center in what is labeled rows 26 and 11. The pattern then was to move to the north (down on the map) until 1925. In the 1930s the western side of the rows were filled in continuing to the western side of rows 12 to 1. In the 1940s these were filling up. So about 1945 there was a major change in policy to allow only cremations.

A new numbering system was instituted in which the rows 23 and 36 were subdivided into five sub-rows labeled A,B,C,D,E. The plots are recorded as half numbers, for example 23 ½A.

Map 3 shows how this smaller pattern filled in during the decades after 1940. Old and new rows are mixed together making finding plots in them more difficult. The most recent burials are in row 25.

The first burial was in 1911; the most recent was in 2001. The total is 821 now. One quarter occurred by 1925, one half by 1940, and three quarters by 1955.

Who were they?

In gathering the detailed information from the memorial stones, one finds only the barest information about the individuals. The bare dates are like book ends. We know their limits in years but what were the individual books really like? Who were these pioneers really? We see the end of their stories. Where did they come from? Were they single, married, widows and widowers?

Story of the Saratoga IOOF Cemetery

Many were down on their luck and had no family left. They were very fortunate to find the greater extended family of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs.

The records do use the term “inmate” which we have changed to “resident”. Popular usage has made inmate a derogatory term, but officially it just meant people who live in a common house.

In spite of the data showing low life expectancy figures for a century ago, the average age at death of those in the Saratoga IOOF Cemetery shows an average of 82 years. Clearly this was a very select group: These were the survivors. No children or young adults were buried here. Most were over 60 before coming to the Home. Not all lived in the Home but came from other Lodge locations.

At the start of the project one question we had was: Did all the stones represent true graves or were some just memorials? Scott Richardson, who helped with all the burials since 1990, verified that all of them in this period were cremations. None of the stones was just a memorial.

Another question was: Were only residents of the Home buried here? The general rule was that one had to have resided at the Home at some time in one's life to qualify for a burial plot. A study of the lists show that many residents who lived in the Home in 1930 were not buried here.

U.S. Census

In the middle of the analysis we sought another major source of information to get a detailed snapshot of those who lived here. The US Census for 1930 is now available to the public. (The law permits the release of census records only after 70 years.)

A search of the records for Santa Clara County revealed a complete list of the residents of the Odd Fellows Home in Saratoga as of April 4, 1930. Later we found the complete list as of January 8, 1920. There was none in the 1910 census because the Saratoga Home was not founded until 1912. We examined the records of the Butte County Thermalito Home for 1900 and 1910. A number of their residents were found to have been buried in Saratoga.

What the Records show

This is an example of what can be done using modern genealogical techniques on the Internet. A few years ago the search would have required hours in front of a microfilm reader in a library searching for names on barely readable tapes one after another. Now one can search, sort, compare names, compute averages, etc. all at home.

The gray stones with only names and dates of the pioneers seem cold and distant. We had to look elsewhere to find more about them. The census records showed a bright light into their lives. They became real people: Where they were born? Were they single, married, widowed, divorced? If foreign born when did they come to the US? It permitted us to fill in many of the “initials only” cases. For example:

Stone location 19-9 says: “Spence, D.C. born 1858 died 1921” (Sex undetermined)
The 1920 census says: “Spence, Duncan C., male, widower, came to US from Canada in 1890.”

Stone location 29-9 says: “Sorensen, Mrs. C, born 1853, died 1920”. The 1920 census says: “Sorensen, Katherina, female, widow, came to US from Germany in 1886”.
What a difference a little data makes!

The Thermalito Home, Hamilton township, Butte Co., California, was established in 1895, for those who “didn't strike it rich in '49 gold fields”.

The 1910 Census shows the following living at the IOOF Home,
Superintendent: Geo. W. Burgess 40, his wife Fannie A. 40, and daughter..

2 chambermaids, 2 nurses, 1 waitress,
1 night watchman, 1 cleaning woman,
1 chore man, 1 fireman, 1 dairyman,
1 laborer, 1 porter, 1 laundry man,
1 dishwasher,
1 farm foreman, his wife and 1 child.

Story of the Saratoga IOOF Cemetery

138 Residents (see Table 3)

Their average age was 74.3 years.
34 were female, 104 male.
57 were foreign born, 81 in US.
2 were divorced, 12 married, 41 single,
83 were widows or widowers.

The Saratoga Home in 1920

The 1920 Census shows the following living at the Odd Fellows Home, founded in 1912

Superintendent: Charles A. Arnold 52 and his wife Mary A. 39.

1 chamber maid, 2 waitresses,
1 poultry man, 3 farm laborers,
1 housekeeper, 2 stationary engineers,
1 janitor, 1 dishwasher, 1 laundry man,
1 laundry helper, 3 trained nurses,
2 cooks, 1 kitchen helper,
1 farm foreman, 1 child 6 yrs old.

175 Residents (see Table 4)

Their average age was 75.6 years.
46 were female, 124 male.
82 were foreign born, 88 US.
1 was divorced, 19 married, 33 single,
117 were widows or widowers.

The Saratoga Home in 1930

The 1930 Census had the same superintendent:

Superintendent: Charles A. Arnold 61 and his wife Mary A. 52.

2 poultry man, 1 farmer, 3 porter
3 engineer laborer, 1 farm teamster
1 house porter, 1 engineer assistant
1 landscape gardener, 2 firemen
2 housekeepers, 2 waitresses
1 assistant matron, 1 dairyman
2 undergrad nurses, 1 graduate nurse
1 house maid, 1 cook's helper
1 dishwasher, 1 baker, 1 pot washer
2 laundry workers, 1 engineer
1 farm foreman,

175 Residents (see Table 5)

Their average age was 76.9 years.
73 were female, 132 male.
63 were foreign born, 142 in US.
20 were divorced, 32 married, 44 single,
109 were widows or widowers.

Most of the foreign born came from England and Germany. (See Table 1).

The US born came mainly from New York and Illinois. By 1930 there were more California born, descendants of the '49ers.

Summary

Table 6 is the master list of 826 individuals buried at the Saratoga IOOF Cemetery. A total of 181 of them were found in the three US Census tables referenced above. 33 are from the Thermalito 1910 list.

The average age at death was 81.95 years. 283 were female, 415 male, 128 unknown (initials only).

Using the census data allowed us to add the place of birth, marital status, and year the person immigrated to the US if foreign born. The census also usually furnished full names where many records showed only initials. They also verified if male or female.

There are many other sources available that can be used to add to our results. Social Security death records are good for dates after 1940. Military records, land records, ship registry records are now available on the Internet. There are now over 20,000 genealogical sites on a wide variety of topics accessible to the serious researcher.

Future Research:

One can take each of the 826 individuals listed in Table 6 and do a detailed search for him or her in available genealogical records.

By trying a few test cases we found maiden names and next of kin with little effort. These could then be traced further to create family trees. One can also learn a lot about migration routes by studying the dates and places of birth

As the old academic saying goes: "These are left as an exercise for the student."

IOOF Saratoga Cemetery Photographs

The IOOF Saratoga Cemetery Photographs are saved on a CD in a folder named “cemphotos”. They are in .jpg format which is universally used by almost all modern computers.

How to display a given photo:

For example Daisy Atkinson on page 1 has number 1822.

Click on Start then Search

Select For Files or Folders

In the top box All or Part of the Name type the number e.g. 1822

Click the bottom box look in

Click Removable disk

Click Search

The search results will list DSC01822

Click on it. The photo should appear on the screen.

It can then be printed by clicking on the Printer symbol.
